-APPOINTMENT-

Olivier Sperat-Czar appointed CEO of life and non-life business for Crédit Agricole Assurances in Poland

On 1 December 2013, Olivier Sperat-Czar took on his position to head up Crédit Agricole Life Insurance Poland. His mission will be to oversee the life business and support the creation and development of a new non-life insurance entity.

Olivier Sperat-Czar began his career in 1982 at AGF. From 1989, his career became more international, taking in the US, Canada, Belgium, Chile, Venezuela and Colombia, with various operational and management positions in both life and non-life within the AGF-Allianz group.

In 2008, he joined Crédit Agricole Assurances' international insurance division, initially as Business Support Development Manager for P&C, before being appointed Chief Operating Officer in 2010.

Olivier Sperat-Czar, 50, graduated from the Ecole nationale de l'assurance (ENASS) and has a double masters in econometrics, statistics and science from Arts et Métiers.
