

Appointments at Crédit Agricole Assurances

In January 2015, Philippe Morelli will become La Médicale's Chief Executive Officer. He will be replaced by Marco Di Guida as Executive Director of Crédit Agricole Vita and Crédit Agricole Assicurazioni. Stéphane Mouret, who currently heads up personal risks and retail customers at Predica, is replacing Marco Di Guida as CEO of Crédit Agricole Vita and Crédit Agricole Assicurazioni.

Philippe Morelli began his career at Generali France (deputy CEO in charge of retail and professional customers) and AXA France (western region CEO). At the end of 2007, he joined Crédit Agricole Assurances as CEO of Crédit Agricole Life Europe in Luxembourg. He became managing director of Crédit Agricole Vita in 2010 then Crédit Agricole Assicurazioni in 2011, the two Italian insurance subsidiaries. Today, he is taking over from René Panis to head up La Médicale, Crédit Agricole Assurances' dedicated insurance subsidiary for health professions. René Panis is joining the Crédit Agricole Assurances Group's insurable risks division.

Philippe Morelli, 62, is an Ecole Centrale Lille engineer and has an MBA from Northwestern University, Chicago.

Marco Di Guida began his career in 1984, working in various Italian companies: Alleanza Assicurazioni, Winthertur Assicurazioni and then Cardif Assicurazioni. From 1997 to 2007, he was head of administration and finance at Ergo Assicurazioni, within the Bayerische group, and CNP Capitalia Vita.

In 2007, he joined the Crédit Agricole Group as head of administration and control, legal and corporate affairs and human resources, before becoming CEO and a member of the Board of Directors of Crédit Agricole Vita and Crédit Assicurazioni in 2011. Marco Di Guida has been a member of Italy's national insurers association (ANIA) since 2001. He sits on the executive committee and the life and wellness committee.

Marco Di Guida, 50, attended the P. Verri business school in Milan.

Stéphane Mouret has spent the majority of his career within the Crédit Agricole Group, in sales, marketing and insurance positions. After starting off in industry, with the Strafor & Atal group, in 1996 he joined the Nord-Est Regional Bank, where he was a professional adviser then branch director, marketing manager and lastly head of sales and marketing. In 2010, he was appointed as Predica's commercial director, with responsibilities including the teams managing the Crédit Agricole Regional Bank and LCL networks. In 2012, he became head of personal risks and retail customers for Predica.

Stéphane Mouret, 48, has a masters in economic sciences and an Executive MBA-CPA HEC.
